Kick-off Seminar on Macroeconomic and Financial Linkage: Analysis and Implications
For Cambodia's Economy

Raffles Hotel Le Royal, July 6th, 2018

On July 6th, 2018, the National Bank of Cambodia (NBC) signed an agreement about the joint-research under Bank of Korea-Knowledge Partnership Program (BOK-KPP) on Macroeconomic and Financial Linkage: Analysis and Implications for Cambodia's Economy. The Kick-off Seminar was presided over by Her Excellency Neav Chanthana, Deputy Governor of the National Bank of Cambodia; and Mr. Seung Hee LEE, Deputy Director General of International Affairs Department of BOK; and Professors at Yonsei University; with the participation of NBC managements, and the delegations from BOK.

The joint-research program under BOK-KPP would give the NBC's researchers the opportunity to closely collaborate with researchers from BOK and Yonsei University aiming to enhance the analytical skills and study of the macroeconomic and financial linkages by applying an economic model.

The expected outcomes are to produce a new paper for researchers as well as an input to the policies, especially for maintaining a stronger financial stability in support of the development of the economic and financial system in Cambodia. The paper is expected to be finished and released in a seminar in December 2018.
